FROM THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE

The steel industry is the backbone of Australia's infrastructure and a cornerstone of our economic resilience. By choosing to advertise with the Australian Steel Institute (ASI), you are not only placing your brand in the spotlight; you are aligning with a legacy of strength, innovation, and progress.

Our platforms—including a cutting-edge digital platform, a highly engaged social media following, targeted Electronic Direct Mail (EDM) campaigns to over 21,000 people, and a widely-read printed magazine—are curated to reach the industry's most influential decision-makers and thought leaders. These channels offer great opportunities to showcase your products and services, engage with a dedicated audience, and build meaningful connections to drive business growth.

Beyond this visibility, advertising with the ASI demonstrates your commitment to supporting and advancing the Australian steel industry. It is through your engagement that we can continue to provide valuable resources, conduct essential research, and advocate for the steel sector at all levels of government and business. Your partnership enables us to foster innovation, champion sustainability, and ensure that the Australian steel industry remains competitive on a global stage.

I invite you to explore the opportunities detailed within this media kit and consider how your advertising investment can make a profound impact. Together, let's forge a future where our industry thrives through collaboration, innovation, and shared success.

ABOUT THE AUSTRALIAN STEEL INSTITUTE (ASI)

The Voice of Australian Steel

The Australian Steel Institute (ASI) is the nation's peak body representing the entire steel supply chain from the manufacturing mills right through to end users in building and construction, heavy engineering and manufacturing.

Our Vision: To influence profitable growth for the complete Australian steel value chain.

Our Mission: To deliver increased use of Australian steel and improved industry competitiveness in construction and other strategic markets.

The ASI is active in key areas of interest to the Australian steel industry:

- Promoting Australian made steel
- Influencing the choice of Australian steel as the preferred building and construction material
- Advocating for full, fair and reasonable trade
- The prevention of dumping to ensure Australian steel can compete
- Promoting the importance of quality, compliance and best practice (including standards, safety and logistics)
- Securing reliable and affordable baseload energy for Australian steel
- Promoting the steel capability agenda: Diversity, STEM, trades, the next generation and succession
- Championing innovation and future steel

A member-based organisation, the ASI's activities cover and promote advocacy and support, steel excellence, standards and compliance, training, events and publications.

WHERE USERS COME FROM

ABOUT STEEL AUSTRALIA

The official magazine of the Australian Steel
Institute (ASI)

Steel Australia is published three times per year:

- Printed copies are distributed to over 1,400 people nationally
- All articles are featured on a cutting-edge digital platform: steelaustralia.com
- A digital broadcast is emailed to 23,000+ people nationally

The magazine provides information, education and support to the manufacturing technology industry therefore supporting ASI members in their business interests.

The publication provides a balanced mix of steel-intensive project profiles, interviews with prominent ASI members and industry leaders, coverage of member events and updates on ASI technical initiatives and related industry developments.

Editorial features are regularly devoted to specific member segments such as steel manufacturers, fabricators, detailers and sheds, as well as key issues including compliance, local content, safety and sustainability.
